Prostitute Protection Act
 Registration and health advice

Information on registration and health advice according to the Prostitute Protection Act (ProstSchG)

If you want to work as/are a sex worker (male/female) in Dresden you will have to register. Registration takes place in form of a confidential conversation at the Public Order Office. You will have to appear in person. The registration certificate is valid for a period of two years (one year for sex workers under the age of 21). After that a renewal needs to be applied for. Your data will be reported to the tax office.

For registration with the Public Order Office you need among other things evidence of health advice which is done at the Office for Health and Prevention und needs to be repeated every twelve months (for prostitutes under 21 such counselling is required every six months). Duration and content of the health advice are of no importance for the issue of the consultation certificate. It will be issued in any case. Your data will not be passed on to no other authority or institution.

If requested, the evidence of health advice and registration certificate are issued additionally on your alias name. Make sure you have the registration certificate and the valid health advice certificate with you during work. They must be shown to the operator of a prostitution business and to controlling authorities upon request. The alias certificates are sufficient for this purpose.

Health advice according to the Prostitute Protection Act
